The schedule for opening the new Doherty Junior High School for the beginning of the upcoming school year "still is going to be very tight," Doherty Principal Richard McGrail reported to the school committee Tuesday night.

But students will attend the Doherty in September — there's no backup plan to do otherwise.

"We're going to be in there...and there will not be any safety problems for students," noted McGrail. He said some finish work, such as painting, insulation and cabinetry, could be ongoing in the Doherty four weeks into the school year, but that there should be no interference with the educational process beyond possibly moving a class from one room into another.

Construction work at the West Junior High and the High School is also moving along.

At the West, carpets are being installed and both the media center and the science labs will be ready for school opening, reported McGrail, who said he sees no "significant problems" ahead.

The guidance area at the High School will be usable but not complete, he said. The media center won't be ready until sometime in the fall, and the auditorium won't be finished until next spring.

Most work at the Doherty is completed, but there's "still a tremendous amount of painting to do," according to McGrail. Fixed cabinetry won't be ready. A handicapped entrance also won't be ready for the opening of school and will be finished within six to seven weeks afterwards.

Doherty's physical education program will be coordinated with Phillips Academy. Doherty students will have access to Phillips physical education facilities from 8 a.m. to 1 p.m. each day. Athletics at Doherty could present a problem, said McGrail, who explained there will be no locker room at the school for football participants this fall. The Phillips Academy locker room cannot be used.

The Doherty parking lot will be ready, with no problems for bus access. Landscaping will only be roughly done — no grass or bushes growing.

Memorial Wing won't be complete until the first of next year.

The school will be new to everyone this year, McGrail said. The first few days will be used for orientation. Some ninth-grade students might be asked to come in ahead of time to help direct the rest of the student populace through the school. Maps may be provided.

School Committee Chairman Richard Neal said it does appear things are "moving along," and the school looks "considerably more ready" than it did at its last progress report.

Master Planning Rolling

By Sue Aucella Deacon

The ball is now rolling toward revision of Andover's master plan, consultant Ronald Curran told the Planning Board Tuesday night, after they identified 15 "broad categories" they want the plan to cover.

The categories: land use, housing, population growth, business, transportation, public safety, social services, reuse/revitalization, schools, waste disposal, hazardous wastes, capital improvement, coordination with surrounding communities, community input, and communications.

Curran said he and Community Development and Planning Director Jonathan Gilmore would now refine that list into more specific sub-categories ("land use," for example, includes zoning, water, sewer and drainage as sub-categories).

The planners will then tell him what they want their role to be — and the role of other town boards, commissions and committees, as well as citizen groups — in studying those sub-categories.

The consultant told the board that although he will be working with other boards and town departments as well, the planners can expect to devote some of their time to concentrating on the master plan.

Curran emphasized that his own role would not include "establishing policy for this community — that's up to the boards, commissions and committees and elected officials, not me."

Chairman Jerry Greer said he was concerned that the process has not yet involved townspeople, saying he did not want to "sit around deciding what the issues are for the people. When do we involve the town?"

Curran suggested taking a "general survey" of a random sampling of the population, by polling townspeople found at shopping areas.

Planner George Moran added that residents could be sent surveys along with their tax bills this fall, and that surveys could

Linen Exhibit To Open

"All Sorts of Good Sufficient Cloth: Linen-Making in New England 1640-1860" will open Saturday, Sept. 11, at the Merrimack Valley Textile Museum, North Andover.

The result of several years of research, the exhibit is located in a newly renovated gallery. Period artifacts such as flax wheels, hackles and looms have been gathered together by several historical groups in an attempt to present a thorough picture of the early linen-making industry in New England. Among those groups that figured prominently in the research are the New Hampshire Historical Society, Old Sturbridge Village, the Essex Institute and the Manchester, N.H. Historical Society. Their research was coupled with the work done by the museum's staff.

Long a leader in the area of industrial and labor history, the Merrimack Valley Textile Museum has delighted visitors with exhibits about textile and labor history. "All Sorts of Good Sufficient Cloth" centers on what

M.V.T.M. Director Thomas Leavitt termed "a little-studied but central episode in this country's early economic and cultural history." Much of the work that went into the preparation of the exhibit was funded by a grant from the National Endowment for the Humanities. Additional funds for this installation have been provided by the Massachusetts Council on the Arts and Humanities.

Museum galleries are open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesday through Friday as well as on weekend afternoons. Guided tours will be conducted at 10 a.m., 1 p.m. and 3 p.m. on weekdays.

On Saturday and Sunday, tours will begin at 1 p.m. and 3 p.m.

There are 132 rooms in the White House.

Town House Topics

Volunteer Groups are Commended

The Board of Selectmen have commended two volunteer groups for their service to Andover "on numerous occasions," most recently on July 4th.

Chairman Norma Gammon last week sent letters of commendation to Frederick Eastman, chief of the Civil Defense Radio Team, and Robert L. Merrill, chief of the Auxiliary Police.

The radio team helped the Police Department handle traffic on the July holiday, the chairman noted, calling their performance on that day "outstanding." On other occasions the volunteers have been "equally selfless and dedicated," Gammon added, "particularly when it comes to the provision of privately-owned equipment to accomplish missions undertaken for the benefit of the town."

The auxiliary police have also provided "valuable service to the town," she wrote to Merrill, and their help with traffic on Independence Day was "invaluable to the town's welfare." She commended Merrill's volunteers for their "uniformly excellent performance on behalf of the Town of Andover."

Concerned About West Andover Fire Safety

A West Andover resident appeared before the selectmen Monday night to voice his concern about fire safety in his part of town.

Lawrence Aiello of Eastman Road said he was worried because the town is relying on a piece of equipment from Wilmington to cover the area — and because the Fire Department's oldest equipment is used in West Andover. He suggested that Andover officials are guilty of "poor planning" when it comes to keeping the town's fire fighting equipment up to date.

But Town Manager Kenneth Mahony said Wilmington equipment is being used only as a back-up while one piece of Andover equipment is down for repairs, and another piece is on order. And he assured Aiello that the town has been following a policy of acquiring one new piece of fire equipment every year.

Selectmen Chairman Norma Gammon added that thanks to a mutual aid agreement with surrounding towns, Andover's neighborhoods are "never uncovered in any way."

Library Expansion Planning Funds Are Bonded

The selectmen took a step toward adding a new wing onto Memorial Hall Library and renovating two wings of East Junior High this week, by signing $300,000 in bond anticipation notes to start funding architectural plans for the two buildings.

Town Manager Kenneth Mahony said the notes would take the town through roughly half the design phase of the project, with the funds expected to last until early next spring. Mahony said interest rates were "so favorable" at this time that he wanted the town to take advantage of them.

Annual town meeting approved a $3.5 million appropriation to fund the renovation of the library and EJH wings, along with Town Hall and the Essex Street Theatre Building.

Selectmen Approve Utility Permits

During a regular meeting at Town Hall Monday night, the Board of Selectmen voted to allow New England Telephone and Telegraph Co. and Massachusetts Electric Co. to lay underground cables to serve new subdivisions in Andover.

The board granted the telephone company permission to lay and maintain underground conduits and man-holes under Old Ballardvale Road to serve the new Wyncrest Circle, and under Tewksbury Street to serve the new Pole Hill Drive.

Mass. Electric was granted permission to lay underground conduit and cable under Tewksbury Street and Sunset Rock Road, and (along with the telephone company) to locate poles, wires and fixtures along and across Arcadia Road and Sunset Rock Road.

During the meeting, the board also granted Bay State Gas Co. permission to excavate at 146 Argilla Road to install gas service.

Jug Band In Final Concert

The Department of Community Services, in conjunction with the Raytheon Company, will host Nevard and the Barrelhouse Jug Band as the final summer concert in Central Park on Wednesday, Aug. 18. The Barrelhouse Jug Band is becoming a popular tradition to many New England community programs. The Rhode Island-based band has performed annually at the Cambridge River Festival and has been touring New England since early spring. The concert will begin at 7 p.m. and end at approximately 9 p.m. Funding is provided in part by a grant from the Raytheon Company through the New England Foundation for the Arts. In the event of rain, the concert will be held Thursday, Aug. 19.

Introducing the Wines of

NASHOBA VALLEY

New England Fruit Wines

DRY APPLE WINE

This is the wine for those who want a bone dry light dinner wine. The hint of apples in the aroma and the finish makes it particularly complimentary to poultry, pork and simple fish dishes.

AFTER DINNER PEACH WINE

A unique after-dinner wine with the flavor and aroma of fresh peaches. A natural tartness allows it to carry a full sweetness with a refreshing, clean finish.

PEAR

Delicate pear aroma, softer, fruitier and fuller bodied than the Dry Apple. For a variety of light dishes, and sipping. Superb with Brie!

ORCHARD RUN

A blend of apples and pears, aged in American Oak. Hints of both fruits and a pleasing tartness make this an ideal dinner wine for lighter dishes.

DRY BLUEBERRY WINE

Made from Maine wild Blueberries, aged in American Oak. Intense red color with a spicy berry flavor and aroma. Enjoyable now, this wine will mellow and develop new aroma and flavors over several years. For red meats, game and strong cheeses.

SEMI-SWEET BLUEBERRY WINE

Similar to Dry Blueberry, but aged in stainless steel and finished sweeter, to bring out the blueberry flavor. Delicious before, during or after meals.

CRANBERRY-APPLE WINE

The holiday and picnic wine! Just enough sweetness to balance the tart cranberry flavor. This special wine is tasty as an aperitif, and the deep rose color lends a festive note to any table.

The '82 Campaign

Harriet Ahouse

Harriet Ahouse, Democrat candidate for representative, continues to take her campaign from door to door, introducing herself to voters in the district. The candidate can be found knocking on doors in Andover during the day, and in Lawrence during the evening and on Saturdays.

This week, she will attend a Bingo evening at St. Augustine's in Lawrence tonight, Aug. 12. Ahouse will attend coffees at several private homes as well; townspeople may call the candidate for the times and addresses of those coffees.

Ahouse writes a weekly newsletter for her campaign workers, and this week's edition focuses on the importance of registering to vote in the state primary, or changing political party affiliations, by Aug. 17, in order to vote in the Sept. 14 primary. "In a seven-way race for the Democratic nomination," she noted, "every vote counts."

Extra copies of her newsletter will be available at local stores this weekend.

This weekend, her staffers will continue distributing Ahouse's leaflets throughout the district.

Ahouse

Vincent P. Davey

Predicting a low voter-turnout for the Democratic primary this fall, Vincent P. Davey, 23 Enmore St., candidate for state representative, said this week he plans a "personal" campaign — meeting and talking to townspeople on Main Street.

Independent voters, said Davey, probably won't vote in the primary unless they feel personally motivated to do so. So Davey plans to continue his personal approach in the coming days.

Davey also stresses that he has always in the past worked for the Democratic party and supported the Democratic platform. And he notes that he will be a full-time state representative if elected.

Davey

Nicholas J. Kolofoles

Nicholas J. Kolofoles, 35 Ames St., Lawrence, Democrat for state representative, plans to visit area shopping malls this week and will poll citizens on the issues they are concerned with and determine the issue most pressing.

Kolofoles

There are "an awful lot of issues" to be discussed, he said, including high automobile insurance rates, gas and electric fuel adjustment charges and pensions for retired railroad workers. He said he is hearing about these issues from the people he meets. He plans to visit department heads in the State House in regard to auto insurance.

Kolofoles feels the most pressing issue is: "It's costing the taxpayer too much to live." Forthcoming issues he will address would include a nuclear arms freeze.

He wants to see Proposition 2½ work

Representative 17th Essex District

immediately — "I look forward to lower real estate taxes."

This Saturday, Kolofoles will attend a bean supper at St. Anthony's, 70 Lawrence St., 4-7 p.m.

Brian Bresnahan

Democrat candidate Brian Bresnahan reported this week that his campaign workers conducted a poll last weekend in front of supermarkets in the district, polling about 200 citizens on their opinions on mandatory sentencing for drunken drivers, Social Security, and restructuring the state income tax system.

Bresnahan

Bresnahan's campaigners will continue that poll this Saturday in front of local supermarkets and banks, he said, hoping to talk with 200 to 300 more residents.

This week, the candidate met with Dorothy Winn of the town's Elder Affairs department to discuss issues concerning the elderly. Bresnahan said that as he campaigns from door to door, he has found that the first concern among the elderly is what will happen to their Social Security benefits. "I feel it is the responsibility of any representative to make sure those benefits are kept intact, and increased if possible," he said.

Other issues he discussed with Winn included fuel assistance, transportation and Meals on Wheels. He was also scheduled to meet with members of the Lawrence School Committee this week.

Bresnahan this week also mailed letters urging some 2,000 Andover High School graduates who graduated after 1976 to register to vote before the Aug. 17 deadline, or to arrange to cast absentee ballots if necessary.

Sue Tucker

During the coming week, Democratic candidate Sue Tucker plans to meet with a representative of the Lawrence Arson Squad to discuss what she calls "one of the biggest public safety issues in the city." The candidate says she is particularly interested in ascertaining how state laws and funding "help or hinder efforts to stop arson."

Tucker

Tucker says that "a certain candidate's claim to be the only one discussing issues is a ridiculous insult to the hundreds of citizens" who have met with her in their homes as she takes her campaign from door to door throughout the district. The issues she has been discussing include tax reform, management practices in state government, environmental laws, economic revitalization and education, according to the candidate.

Members of Tucker's staff recently met with Town Clerk Elden Salter and representatives of the Lawrence Eagle-Tribune to discuss election laws and political advertising.

John R. Fox

John R. Fox, 50 Walnut Ave., Democratic contender for state representative, has issues on his mind.

He said if there is a "hesitation" on the part of other candidates to discuss issues, there could be a "reservoir" of issues on the horizon due to President Reagan's effort to decentralize government and give more power to state and local authorities.

Fox

With the decentralization, he said, comes responsibilities, liabilities and problems. "That could prove a reservoir of issues," according to Fox, who said it is important for a state representative to be aware of this. State and local authorities could sooner than they think be faced with problems that were once of "federal character."

Other things on Fox's mind, besides considering a 3-5 cent cigarette tax, are prioritizing budget decisions (which he says hasn't been done well so far) in light of Proposition 2½, supporting a nuclear arms freeze and considering tax exemptions for the elderly under certain categories.

Tonight he will sponsor a tea at his house. Anyone interesting in attending should call the candidate. He will also continue his door-to-door campaigning. Fox will be at DeMoulas on Saturday, 9 a.m. to 2 p.m., to meet citizens.

Gerry Grasso

With so many candidates running for state representative, Gerry Grasso, 6 Arthur Road, a Democratic contender, says townspeople are getting annoyed with being "bombarded" on the town's sidewalks with campaigning.

"I feel sorry for the people right now," he explained, saying he does not want to become an "annoyance" and bother people during their daily routines.

Grasso has been bicycling around town and will continue to do so.

"I had a great time last Saturday and met a lot of people," he said, adding that he is making himself available to any interested groups.

"I hope people will call me and invite me," he said. The candidate also noted he will use media resources to reach the people, maintaining voters are intelligent enough to read about the contenders for representative.

When meeting the public, Grasso is stressing his past public and private service, noting he will be a hard-working representative, and talking about accountability of tax money. He will appear at the Elks Fun Night in Andover tomorrow and in the upcoming week will attend as many functions as possible.

Grasso

Kimberley Cronin

In the course of campaigning from door to door, candidate Kimberley Cronin has learned that many residents of the district are concerned about public safety, the Republican candidate said this week.

"Many people, particularly the elderly citizens, experience fear in their own homes," she noted, "regardless of the neighborhood." One group of professional thieves have been posing as nurses to gain access to homes on the pretext of checking blood pressures, Cronin said.

Cronin

"As a state legislator, I would hope to strengthen our anti-crime laws, as well as give our public safety officials the tools to prevent crime and do their job effectively and efficiently," Cronin said. "It is important that all our citizens be able to live with the knowledge that those who choose to break the law will be caught and dealt with swiftly."

This week, the candidate will continue to campaign door-to-door, talking with people about their concerns. Cronin also plans to meet with her Lawrence campaign coordinators over the weekend.

William E. Melahn

Republican Atty. William E. Melahn, 18 Ballardvale Road, candidate for state representative, this week announced his opposition to a six percent sales tax on automotive repairs and other personal services.

He noted, "In 1981 and 1982, the Democratic legislative leadership filed legislation...increasing the sales tax from five to six percent and extending the tax to services such as automotive repairs, TV repairs, parking, lawn mowing and employment agencies."

"The Democratic legislative leadership has proposed a tax on small businesses. The list of services was carefully chosen to avoid constituencies who are organized, vocal and likely to cause political problems to the Democratic incumbents. As a matter of political policy, I am opposed to taxes on personal services, since they unfairly discriminate against small business."

Melahn, who is out of town on business this week and will return Friday, plans to emphasize his opposition to the Democratic tax proposal when he goes door-to-door meeting townspeople this weekend. Melahn will be concentrating on precinct one in the upcoming week.

Melahn

Reception Planned For Hart

A reception in honor of Louise Hart, Republican candidate for U.S. Representative from the Fifth Congressional District, will be held Friday, Aug. 27, in Andover.

Sponsored by the Hart Committee, the reception is scheduled to be held at the Indian Ridge Country Club.

Voter Registration Activity Is Brisk

The many candidates vying for Gerald Cohen's seat as representative for the 17th Essex district should be gratified to learn that there is "pretty good interest" in registering to vote in the Sept. 14 primary, the town clerk reported this week.

Town Clerk Elden Salter said Monday that "quite a bit of changing and checking" of political party affiliations has been going on at Town Hall recently, "and that's good."

The clerk reminded voters that they have until next Tuesday, Aug. 17, to change their party affiliation to vote on either the Republican or Democratic ballot next month.

"It's a good idea to call and check your party enrollment now," Salter said, since it will be impossible to change one's party on primary day.

To help voters register or change their party in time for the primary, the Police Department's new public education bus will be parked in front of the BayBank, Main Street, from noon to 8 p.m. this Saturday, Aug. 14. The town clerk will man the bus, along with the secretary of state.

And for the last minute rush, Salter's office at Town Hall will be open from 9 a.m. until 10 p.m. next Tuesday, the final day to register or change party affiliation.

Why Vote In Primary?

By Virginia M. Cole

Have you ever voted in the Primary? Have you helped to select those who will appear on the ballot in November? Will you let a small minority make that decision for you? Will you complain that you don't like the choices in November?

Andover has nine candidates to choose from for State Representative this year. Nine candidates now; but not nine in November. At the Primary election held at the regular polling place (Andover High School) those who vote will narrow the field—one Democrat and one Republican.

Every registered voter may vote in the Primary. If you are enrolled as a Republican or a Democrat and that is the party you wish to choose, you go and vote. If you would prefer this year to make some choices in the "other" party, go to Town Hall any time before Aug. 17 and change to that party or to "Independent" (a registered voter unenrolled

Why Sue Tucker should be your Representative.

Experience. Sue knows what it takes to be an effective legislator. Her experience includes serving in local government for eight years on the Development and Industrial Commission, the Financing Authority and the Central Business District Committee. In addition, she worked at the State House for 2½ years as a Legislative Assistant where she researched and analyzed legislation, obtained funding for local projects, and served constituent needs.

Maturity and leadership. Sue has a proven record of leadership as President of the Andover League of Women Voters and Vice President of the Massachusetts League of Women Voters. And as both a parent and taxpayer, she shares your concerns and understands the problems you face.

Commitment to a better Massachusetts. Sue knows that Massachusetts must stop operating by crisis management. Improvements in local aid, education, healthy business climate, clean drinking water and programs for senior citizens depend on intelligent planning and more efficient use of tax dollars.

Sue Tucker makes sense.

Bike Tours

Bicycling enthusiasts are invited to join one of three organized bicycle tours to benefit the Multiple Sclerosis Society on Sunday, Aug. 15, in Topsfield. The 25-, 50- and 100-mile tours will wind through scenic north shore routes; the 100-mile challenge will reach Epping, N.H., before returning to Topsfield.

Experienced cyclists will be leading the tours and sawagons for repair will monitor each route to provide a safe and enjoyable tour for families, recreational cyclists and the long ride cyclists. Anyone interested should call the MS Bike Tour hotline in Waltham at 890-4993 for more information. Pre-registration is recommended and will be helpful to those planning the tours.

To ride the MS tour, participants may secure sponsors to pledge amounts for MS for the miles they ride or pay an entry fee. All proceeds benefit multiple sclerosis research and the patient care programs of the Massachusetts MS Chapter. A Univega Grand Rally bicycle will be the top prize for the most money raised for MS. Other prizes include tours offered by Vermont Country Cyclists and Vermont Bicycle Touring, helmets and other bicycle accessories. All participants will receive an MS Tour t-shirt.

also be distributed downtown on Saturday mornings, or at the polls on election day.

The consultant said he would present the planners samples of surveys he has available that could be distributed throughout the town, and used as the focus of public forums.

Gilmore suggested that planning board meetings could be held in various neighborhoods as the planners discuss comprehensive planning issues.

Curran told the board he has been spending his time meeting with boards and departments in town, and writing letters arranging meetings, to "familiarize myself with the community." He has also been sorting through replies to a questionnaire on the master plan sent to some 200 townspeople.

The consultant said he expected to spend the rest of this week in much the same way.

Air Conditioning

There are any number of ways to save on your energy bills when using an air conditioner or a central air conditioning system this summer.

You might consider cooling only those rooms necessary as a very simple way to obtain lower bills. Further savings can be realized by setting the thermostat at 78 degrees rather than 72. Even if you are leaving your home for only an hour, you might consider shutting off the air conditioner.

For those with central air conditioning, you should turn the thermostat up when you are out of the house for four hours or more. On your return, set the thermostat back down at 78. Turning it lower will not cool your house any faster.

Additionally, you should locate your air conditioner on the north side of the house or on the shady side. If no natural shade exists, install an awning over the air conditioner. Definitely keep the equipment unblocked by drapes, curtains or furniture.

If the weather is humid, put the machine's fan speed on low. You won't get as much cooling, but sticky moisture will be eliminated.

Angina

Angina, or angina pectoris, is a recurring tightness or pain in the chest experienced when the heart muscle is not receiving an adequate blood supply. Angina usually occurs when the heart is called on to do more work such as during exercise, after a big meal or when excited. Angina is not a heart attack, but both conditions have the same underlying cause—hardening of the arteries. A diet low in saturated fats and cholesterol may help reduce the risk of developing angina. Contact your local American Heart Association.

School Board Names Advisory Steering Board

By John P. Sawyer

Greater community and professional participation in school issues is a major step closer this week with the naming of 15-member Citizens' Advisory Steering Committee who will assist the Andover School Board in its review of the town's elementary education program.

Over 40 persons applied for the positions, according to Committeewoman Susan Poore. She and Schoolman Donald Robb comprised the subcommittee which devised the citizens' advisory plan and interviewed the candidates.

Those persons not chosen to serve on the steering committee will be referred to committees to be formed at the town's individual schools. P.T.O. presidents will select members to represent neighborhood schools.

Eight citizens were elected to the steering committee Tuesday. They were: Terry McNally, Martha Gibson, Lois Koerckel, Alice Flynn, Dale Edmands, Joe Howard, Paul Kriz and Shiva Sheel.

Seven professionals were also elected. They were: Peg Orlando, Eleanor Merz, Barbara Ralston, Lois Haslem, Icora Alexander, Mary Barton and Charlotte Lynch. All are teachers, except Haslem, who is a school principal.

The steering committee will:

One-day Licenses, Block Parties Approved

The Board of Selectmen Monday night granted one-day all-alcoholic licenses to the Christian Formation Center, River Road, for four occasions, and approved two neighborhood block parties as well.

The alcoholic licenses were approved for noon to 8 p.m. Sept. 4, 11 a.m. to 9 p.m. Sept. 18, 5 p.m. to midnight Sept. 25, and 3 p.m. to 10 p.m. Sept. 26.

Residents of Beech Circle, with the selectmen's permission, will block off their street for a neighborhood celebration from noon to 10 p.m. on Sept. 5, with a rain date of Sept. 6.

And residents of Cutler Road will block off their street between Oriole and Bateson drives from 10 a.m. to noon Sept. 5, with a rain date of Sept. 6, for a block party of their own.

HARRET AHOUSE

REPRESENTATIVE

Locally owned and managed stores, banks and hospitals are a necessary source of economic strength and personal interaction between members of our community.

Small retail businesses - the so-called Mom and Pop stores - are a primary employer of local citizens. The very personal service they provide helps define our quality of life.

Local banks have often been willing to provide specially designed mortgages and loans because the bank's top decision makers know and trust the people involved. Local hospitals support a variety of charitable clinic and in-patient services. These services are key to the character of Greater Lawrence's health care system.

As your state representative, I will work to insure that any legislation which addresses tax, merger or corporate law will encourage the growth of small business. I also support income averaging for small businesses and a limit on take overs by large corporations.

A Message

Selectmen Suspend Liquor Store License For Sale To Minors

By Sue Aucella Deacon

To "send a message to this community" that they will "not put up with the selling of alcohol to minors," the Board of Selectmen have voted to suspend an Andover package store license for 14 working days, starting next Monday.

The selectmen suspended the license held by Philip Pizzano of Plaza West Beverages Corp., 211 Rear North Main St., from Aug. 16 through Aug. 31, because he allegedly sold alcohol to minors on two occasions this summer.

Pizzano's attorney, Reginald Marden of Andover, called the suspension "extremely excessive," arguing that it was the owner's first offense in the 17 years he has held the package store license. Marden said he would recommend appealing the board's decision (to the state Alcoholic Beverages Control Commission).

Selectmen William Dalton and Edward Harris voted against the suspension on two three-two votes: Both indicated that the penalty was too harsh in light of Pizzano's 17-year record.

But Chairman Norma Gammon said the board should "take into consideration what the state is saying to us about drunken driving. We have to start right at home, with the bars and liquor stores right here."

Selectman Gerald Silverman added, "We're giving a message to this community — we will not put up with the selling of alcohol to minors."

Officer Arthur Ricci of the Andover Police Department described both alleged license violations during a public hearing at Town Hall Monday night.

The officer said that while he was on cruiser patrol at about 8:40 on June 3, he sighted a "teenager" walking from the package store to a car parked in front of the Essex Bank. The male was carrying a six-pack of beer in a paper bag.

After questioning the buyer, Ricci learned that he was 16 years old and had used a 20-year-old man's license to buy the beer. When they returned to the store, Pizzano said he had checked the license, but could not tell that it did not belong to the buyer.

Ricci told the selectmen the photograph on the license "did not match the person at all. It was clear-cut as far as I was concerned."

Pizzano told the board he was "not infallible" and called it a case of "mistaken judgment."

The second incident allegedly occurred at about 8:45 on July 16, when Officer Ricci was watching the store and Andover Liquors from an unmarked police car parked at Shawsheen Plaza.

He saw a "young man" leave Pizzano's store carrying a six-pack, and felt his age was "questionable," the officer said. When Ricci questioned the youth, he said he was 18 and had bought the beer without any identification.

According to Marden, Pizzano believed the buyer "looked older," and believed him to be a "prior customer" who had shown proper identification in the past.

The attorney said that both incidents happened this summer, after 17 years of a "spotless record in town," because Pizzano's wife was ill and the owner had to run the store alone. Pizzano made both "errors in judgment" because he was "tired and overworked," Marden said.

Dalton said he would like to see the driv-

State Funds For Parking Garage At Library Site Appears Likely

By John P. Sawyer

Although Town Manager Kenneth Mahony said this week he doesn't get "too optimistic," it appears likely the town will get good news in a few weeks, and a $1.2 million parking garage could become a reality.

Last week, State Secretary of Administration and Finance David M. Bartley told town officials, local politicians, merchants and citizens at Memorial Hall Library that state money is almost a sure-bet for the project — two covered decks of parking, about 200 spaces, to be built under the proposed 20,000 square-foot library expansion.

Mahony

"I see it (the garage) as a major stabilizing influence," said Mahony. "It'll stabilize that part of downtown."

The town manager, who noted he was "very pleased" with the turnout of townspeople who came to greet Bartley, explained that the extra parking will:

HELP smaller downtown businesses by making it easier for quick-stop shopping;

KEEP Andover's downtown area economically healthy;

INCREASE library visitation; and,

ALLEVIATE the town's congested parking situation, eliminating the problem of all-day parkers and commuters who leave the car downtown before heading off to work in Boston. Some uncovered parking, to supplement the parking garage, would be sold on a monthly basis for this purpose.

"My office has reviewed the proposal," Bartley told town officials and citizens, stressing that small business-related economic development is needed in every community. "This proposal is among the top 10 proposals in the state."

Bartley went on to say his "batting average" with Gov. King is "100 percent," and he noted, "I intend to make a strong recommendation on this particular proposal."

The state secretary, who Mahony gave a copy of a recent TOWNSMAN editorial supporting the proposed parking facility, said the decision on the project "will not be disappointing to the community."

Andover has applied for $840,000 to help build the garage, which would be funded on a 70 percent state and 30 percent town-funded basis. The town's cost would be $350,000, which town meeting would have to approve, according to Mahony, and revenue from the facility would be $60,000 per year for the metered parking.

"There is a saving involved for the library as well," said the town manager.

He explained that the cost of the foundation for the library addition would be shared with the parking garage. Also, because of the grading of the land, the library expansion alone might be difficult to build.

The garage would have an elevator to bring patrons up to the library. The elevator would benefit the handicapped or anyone who did not wish to walk up the hill near the library.

The Theater Building might be torn down or moved to accommodate the parking area. Mahony said the building has some historic relevance, and an attempt could be made to move it, although architects don't believe it can be saved.

According to a parking study, Andover is short 500 spaces. Besides planning the 200-space garage, the town is cracking down on parking ticket violators by towing the cars of those who aren't paying the fines. In addition, when town offices are moved into the wings of old East Junior High, more spaces will be available to downtown shoppers.

Andover Aids Neighbors

At two or three times during this summer, according to Public Works Director Bob McQuade, Andover has sold water to the neighboring towns of Tewksbury and North Reading.

The price? $1.10 per 100 cubic feet.

"We haven't read the meters yet," said McQuade, who explained it isn't known just how much H2O has been sold. Billing is usually done at the end of the summer.

But Andover is lucky to be in the position of selling — and not needing to buy — water.

Our town only supplies water to communities experiencing water emergencies. Some of Tewksbury's wells were contaminated and others shut down for cleaning this summer, said McQuade. Andover supplied North Reading with water when that town cleaned its wells.

The selling of water in no way adversely affects this town's water supply.

"We've done all our planning," explained the public works director. "We've got it (water) coming out our ears."

A number of Merrimack Valley communities — but not Andover — may have serious water problems in years ahead, according to a Merrimack Valley Planning Commission analysis. Lawrence, Methuen

Andover's Gone Country

Comprehensive planning consultant Ronald Curran came up with an interesting tidbit of information for the Planning Board Tuesday night, asking if they could guess which is the most popular radio station among Andover listeners.

Curran said he had looked at Arbitron radio rating surveys in the course of learning as much as he can about Andover during the last couple of weeks.

The board failed to identify the station that most townspeople prefer: WOKQ, an FM country-and-western station. "There are a lot of closet country-and-western fans in this town," one planner observed.

The second most popular station in Andover, according to Curran, is WBZ.

Eating Out....

Summer Style!

Picnics and summer go together well. The South, Bancroft, and Ballardvale playgrounds got together for a picnic at Poms Pond last week, sharing hotdogs and hamburgers, watermelon, games, and a swim in the summer weather. Photos clockwise from upper left: Good food is enjoyed by many of the youngsters. Paul Allard, 3 Orchard St., is served a hotdog; Reggie Hayes, 5 Clark Road, enjoys a different picnic food, pizza; Alyssa Druin, 294 Salem St., takes a bite out of a juicy watermelon, and then tidys up with a napkin; Paula Casaletto, 4 Haven Drive, takes a bite out of her hotdog embedded in a pocket of Syrian bread; A jump into the cool waters of Poms Pond; Playing a game of water-tag are Stephanie Wilson, 9 Hidden Road, and Diane Bohaker, 119 Rattlesnake Hill Road; Putting a picnic bench to good use as they talk are Jeremy Levine, 27 Florence St., and Peter Newman, 33 Sagamore Drive.

Reflecting A Serious Concern

On the surface, the action of Andover selectmen in suspending a liquor license for two weeks for selling alcohol to minors may seem a little harsh.

The store-owner had not been guilty of prior violations, and in the past selectmen, acting as the licensing commission have been lenient, allowing a first offense to be reprimanded with a warning.

The suspension action this week, then, is an indication of the serious concern about alcohol-related problems not just by the Andover Board of Selectmen, but the public in general.

While it may be unfortunate that the particular proprietor is the victim of that concern it should serve as a warning to all dispensers of alcoholic beverages that they are fully responsible for the sale of what could possibly be a lethal substance if not used in moderation, or in allowing its excessive use to lead to accidents.

The legislature has recently enacted a new tough drunk-driving law.

Throughout the state there are civil suits arising from accidents which are alcohol related, some fatal, others causing crippling injuries.

The message seems clear.

While the drunken driver may have caused an accident, or an intoxicant may have caused personal bodily injury, the responsibility can be placed upon the person who served the last drink, or sold the bottle.

The problem has become a serious one to the extent that there has been a public hue and cry for action to be taken. For years, after a tragic, alcohol-related accident, there was substantial interest in enacting corrective legislation to control such situations from occurring again.

But, as time passed, so did the concerns. Time has proven that the problem has only intensified, not abated.

Now, the regulations are more strict, the penalties stiffer, the responsibility on those who dispense alcoholic beverages in any form, greater.

The laws are specific. The drinking age was raised not too many years ago, when it was found that the lowered age was resulting in an increase in auto fatalities involving teen-agers.

With new laws to assist law enforcement agencies in effecting some control over such a situation, there will hopefully be some definite abatement.

And, while the action of the selectmen here this week may have been difficult, their deviation from past policies in such matters, is to be recognized as a necessary step, reflecting the public's concern.

The Public Forum

Missing A Point

To The Editor Of The TOWNSMAN:

The Townsman's editorial of Aug. 5, 1982, "They Deserve A Playground," contains one important point, but misses another. It certainly is true that "the people in the West Andover area would seem to be entitled to the same privileges as others in the community when it comes to recreational opportunities." It is also true, however, that the members of the Andover community have indeed recognized this fact and have attempted, during the Spring 1979 Town Meeting, to rectify this situation by appropriating $21,500 for the purpose of "designing, laying out and constructing playing fields" at the Andover landfill.

As an interested member of the West Andover community and non-abutter of any proposed site, I prefer to see the old landfill converted into an appropriate recreational area as originally planned and partly paid for. This would eliminate any controversy, avoid having to propose a new, less suitable site, and give West Andover the recreational opportunities it deserves.

Renovations Necessary

To The Editor Of The TOWNSMAN:

Andover Child Care Center greatly appreciated the fine coverage provided in last week's Townsman regarding our new program at Phillips Academy. We have been very pleased with the cooperation of all concerned and are very much looking forward to serving the many parents and children who have contacted us.

In order to completely clarify our situation at Draper Hall, it is necessary to point out that the building is in the process of becoming ready for final inspection by local and state officials. Minor renovations are necessary in several areas to convert the space formerly occupied by the Abbott Library into one suitable for use by young children.

Final clearance can only be given after these renovations are complete. Again we appreciate the warm welcome that has been given to us by all.

Do you have your tickets for the Italian Festival at The Haven, Aug. 18? They are available now and you won't want to miss this happy event. I have been assured that the Italian fare will not be too spicy, but the music will be spirited, and everyone is assured of a good time. There will also be slides of Italy to add to our pleasure. Remember the date—Aug. 18—at noon—and all for $4.50. But, you must purchase your tickets in advance. Do it today!

August 24 all those candidates for Gerry Cohen's seat in the House will be at the senior center starting at 10 a.m. to expound their views and to answer your questions. Be sure to be there so that you will be able to make an informed decision at the Primary election in September.

Tomorrow, Aug. 13, is the last in the summer series of the hot lunch program. The daily lunch program will resume at Shawsheen School when school reopens in the fall.

Have you thought of going to the Eastern States Exposition Sept. 19? The center, in conjunction with the Andover Chapter of the Appalachian Mountain Club, will be sponsoring two buses for that day. One bus will be exclusively senior citizens, the other, a mix of age groups. Ten dollars will pay for your transportation and admission to the fair grounds. You may make use of the lovely picnic area at the fair and enjoy a home-packed lunch or you may treat yourself to lunch at one of the many food facilities there. But, you do need to sign up now. September is closer than you think.

A new trip has been scheduled. Mystic, Conn., Sept. 29 with lunch at a lovely seafood restaurant, a visit to the aquarium and to old Mystic Village, all for $25. There will also be a small guided tour available.

The Fuller Gardens will be the destination of a trip scheduled for Sept. 2. The group will travel to Rye, N.H., with lunch at the Pirates' Cove Restaurant, and then on to the breathtakingly beautiful Fuller rose gardens. Cost for the trip is only $13. But, sign up soon!

The first of two buses scheduled for the fall foliage trip Oct. 13 is already almost full. If you are interested in this lovely, colorful adventure through the Green Mountains of Vermont, sign up now. Cost is $26, including lunch at a lovely wayside inn.

August Artist

The art work of Gordon V. Jones of Wilbraham is on display at Memorial Hall Library for the month of August. Included are oils, mixed media, sculpture, woodcuts and fired enamelware. Jones, an art teacher at Minnechaug Regional High School, is a graduate of Drew University with a M.F.A. from Assumption College.

"As an art teacher I've had to work and be proficient in a wide variety of media. Consequently, I've developed the habit of allowing the idea for a new work to determine the medium used. I align the characteristics of the medium with the demands of the concept."

International Doll Collection

International Doll Collectors Month will be observed at Memorial Hall Library with a display of international dolls in the main reading room. Skill and a great deal of knowledge are needed to develop a first-rate doll collection. Library books for patrons interested in the subject are included in the display.

Pesticides

A new leaflet on the safe and proper use of pesticides for homeowners has been published by the Pesticide Bureau of the Massachusetts Department of Food and Agriculture.

Almost 90 percent of the households in the U.S. use pesticides on one form or another as more than 500 different pesticide products are available to the consumer.

When used properly, pesticides will do their job safely, but if improperly or indiscriminately used, pesticides (like other chemicals) can be harmful to people and our environment.

Kitchen Design

David A. Clement,

Mirrors are highly versatile wall accessories that can seemingly double a room's dimensions. Today's high-quality mirrors are constructed by the "float glass" method. Molten glass is poured onto a pool of molten metal creating a perfectly smooth, flat surface. The backside of the mirror is then sprayed with silver finish to provide a reflection. The silver backing is sealed with copper film. Lower quality mirrors sometimes show distortions in the surface of the glass. Check the thickness of a mirror as well. While a 3/16" thickness is fine for smaller mirrors, those that are larger than 34x36" should be made of at least 1/4" thick glass.

Mirrors are among the least expensive and most effective space stretching ideas. Mirror one wall of a room and immediately you have doubled its size! Are you tired of your too small bathroom or kitchen? Let WINDSOR KITCHENS provide you with quality workmanship and modern ideas. We invite you to phone us at 372-3444 or come in Mon.-Thurs. 9-5:30, Fri. 9-8, Sat. 9-5, even by appointment and browse through our new showroom at 1181 Boston Road in Ward Hill.

Weidman Leads Andover To Title

By Rick Harrison

Righthander Bill Weidman put the finishing touches on another superb Greater Lawrence League season for the Andover Gold Babe Ruth baseball team, firing a masterful no-hit shutout as AG captured the playoff championship with an impressive 3-0 victory over South Lawrence West last week at Mt. Vernon Park.

Weidman, who boosted his record to 7-0, set a team and league record by hurling his second no-hitter of the year.

On June 15 he faced the minimum 21 batters over the seven-inning route, coming within one error of a perfect game, as he fashioned a 4-0 no-hit triumph against South

Champs

Lawrence East in Lawrence.

In the playoff victory against South Lawrence West, Weidman struck out six batters in the first three innings, retired the first 14 batters he faced, and didn't allow one ball to be hit out of the infield.

He also set down the final seven batters in order, finishing the contest with seven strikeouts and two walks.

Andover Gold played errorless ball behind him, and the no-hitter was preserved several times as shortstop Mark Grams made two great plays behind the second base base, Mark Doherty came up with a clutch stab of a hard liner in the final inning, and second baseman Kraig Burzlaff produced his usual solid defensive game by handling seven chances flawlessly.

The win enabled Andover Gold to complete a sweep of the regular season and playoff championships for the second straight year and third time in the last five summers.

Gold extended its victory streak through 11 straight games, and hiked its overall record this summer to a sizzling 24-3.

Andover Gold was 26-3 last year, giving it a 50-6 mark the past two seasons, and over a three-year stretch the team has put together a 64-8 record for 72 games.

Gold came very close to going undefeated in local action, with its two league losses a 3-2 decision to SLW and a 4-2 verdict to Prospect Hill. SLW scored a run in the bottom of the seventh to eke out its victory, while Prospect Hill took advantage of one error to net four unearned runs in its win.

The title-clinching shutout was the second straight shutout for Gold, which has eight for the season including three by Weidman.

Gold also held the opposition to one run in five other games, and permitted more than three runs only five times in 27 games.

Andover Gold notched the only run it would need against South Lawrence West in the top of the first.

Leadoff batter Mark Grams, batting a hefty .438 for the year, worked starting pitcher Glenn McIntosh for a walk. Grams stole second, moved to third when the catcher's throw deflected into shallow left-field, and scored easily on a hard two-strike single to centerfield by Billy Lane.

The champs wrapped up their attack with two insurance runs in the fifth.

CHIROPRACTIC FOR BETTER HEALTH

JAMES J. PECK, D.C.

CHIROPRACTOR

Chiropractic and Back Pain

At some time in life, back pain probably affects eighty percent of the members of the human race. The reasons for this are myriad, but fortunately the vast majority of low back discomforts are of a "mechanical" origin. This is because the spine which is entrusted with protecting the spinal cord (a complex network of nerves that connects the brain with the remainder of the body) contains twenty-four movable portions called vertebrae. The flexibility of the spine can allow misalignment to occur and this leads to irritation of the corresponding nerves in the cord and subsequent back pain. When properly evaluated, back pain will respond to treatment directed toward correction of the mechanical impairment.

This is precisely the reason that chiropractic care proves to be so effective in treating back pain. The doctor of chiropractic is a spine specialist and as such is uniquely qualified to evaluate and treat such problems.

Call to arrange for a chiropractic consultation and exam.

throw and advanced to third base on a passed ball. The pesky Grams then walked and stole second.

Scott Wilkins laced an RBI single to left-field to make it 2-0, but then Lane hit into some tough luck when his line drive was picked off by first baseman Matt Bergeron.

Kraig Burzlaff, sporting a solid .417 average and hitting approximately .500 over the second half of the season, then rescued Grams with a vicious single to centerfield.

The only mild threat SLW could manage was in the fifth inning, but Grams frustrated the second place team twice.

Dan Buote opened the inning with a hard grounder up the middle, but Grams broke swiftly to his left and dove head-first to glove the ball near second base. He then got up and threw Buote out by a running step.

Vin DelSignore followed with a grounder, not as sharply hit, to the exact same spot. Once again Grams ranged to his left, making the play and nailing the swifter DelSignore at first base.

Weidman then lost his perfect game by walking Steve Dastous on a very close 3-2 pitch, and then issued a second walk to Bill Blackwell before retiring Bob Farrington on a pop-up to Burzlaff at second base.

The only other close call came in the seventh, when Buote lined a one-out shot that third baseman Doherty snagged. DelSignore then grounded out to Doherty as Weidman set league history.

Lane, batting approximately .320, and Rourke paced the nine-hit offense with 2-for-3 efforts against McIntosh and reliever Bergeron.

Grams had one hit and scored twice. Doherty extended his bunt single record to 12 for the season, and other singles were by Chris Colsia, Burzlaff and Wilkins.

Andover Gold may play several more non-league games, including one with the Methuen Ruth champs to benefit the Jimmy Fund, and a combined Andover Gold and Andover Blue All-Star team is currently looking for tournament competition.

Fast Women Ready For Race

The long-distance runner need not be so lonely any more.

Eight months ago, FAST WOMEN was founded to encourage and support women runners. With members in more than a dozen towns in southern New Hampshire and the greater Merrimack Valley, the club has worked to provide women with companionship and information on their sport. The results are happy runners!

And the town of Andover will be seeing a lot of fast women as next month when FAST WOMEN conducts the FAST WOMEN 10K Road Race on Sunday, September 12, at 1:00 p.m. at the South Elementary School in Andover. The club has worked hard to provide a top quality race for all women runners.

The course certification fieldwork was done by John Booras who certified the Boston Marathon and the Lowell Marathon, along with more than 75 New England races. The finish line is under the direction of Andover's Marilyn Fitzgerald, who has worked for the popular and well-organized races sponsored by the Newburyport YMCA and Bob McIntyre, who has worked the finish line at the Boston Bonne Bell since it began five years ago.

The route is a gently rolling course on well shaded roads with accurate splits and water provided at every mile. A digital clock and chro-

$750 worth of extras for $250:

Now all of our precise automotive technology can be yours for less than you ever dreamed. Because to the art of engineering, Audi has just added the art of boosting sticker value. If you buy an Audi 4000S sports sedan with automatic transmission, tachometer, dual electrically adjustable outside mirrors, and a 4-spoke sports steering wheel, you will get that $750 worth of extras for only $250.*

All those extras are fine. But it's the car they go on that makes their value so special. Precision engineering of the highest order, the handling and roadability of front-wheel drive, and a combination of performance and luxury undreamed of in a sports sedan. Perhaps you think we've become carried away. Ask your Porsche Audi dealer for a test drive in the Audi 4000S and we'll see who gets carried away!

er's license in question, but Ricci said he did not know where the license is now; it had expired and may have been returned to the Registry of Motor Vehicles, he explained.

Selectman Donn Byrne moved to suspend Pizzano's license for four days for the first offense; that motion passed on a three-two vote, with Dalton and Harris opposed.

Marden then suggested that if the selectmen chose to impose "further sanctions" on Pizzano, they make the second suspension concurrent with the first. "If you're trying to make a point, I think you've made it," he said. "Four days for a small business like this is very costly."

But Byrne moved to suspend the license for an additional 15 days for the second offense, then reduced it to an additional ten days at Silverman's suggestion — bringing the total suspension to 14 working days.

Dalton proposed two compromises — both of which were rejected: to impose a two-week suspension, with the second week concurrent with the first, excluding Saturdays; or a ten-day suspension, beginning Aug. 16.

The motion for a second suspension passed on another three-two vote, with Dalton and Harris again opposed.

Exhibit

The Essex Institute, 132 Essex St., Salem, announces a unique opportunity for the public to take an active role in the current exhibit "A Sporting Life: Summer Amusements in Old-Time Essex County." On Saturday, Aug. 14, between 10 a.m. and 3 p.m., a Sports Fair will take place on the institute grounds. At 10 a.m. there will be a baseball card trading session to be followed at 11 a.m. by a golf clinic and putting contest, a croquet match, marble shooting and a tennis clinic and exhibition. Prizes will be awarded and refreshments available. No fee will be charged for participation in any contest. There will be a one-half admission fee to the museum on that day. Local sports personalities will be present.

Marden called that decision "Draconian. The sanctions are excessive and an extreme financial burden," he said, adding that he would recommend an appeal.

Before the hearing began, Selectman Dalton, an attorney, pointed out that he had represented Plaza West seven years ago (not on a license violation), and volunteered to abstain from the hearing. However, neither the selectmen nor Pizzano objected to Dalton's participation.

License

and North Andover reportedly have no problems, but Salisbury, Merrimac, Georgetown, Rowley and Groveland can expect major problems.

Andover developed a long-range water supply program in 1958 and implemented it by 1974. The water treatment plant at Haggitt's Pond will supply plenty of high-quality water for the future. Water from the pond, Fish Brook and, to a lesser extent, the Merrimack River, makes up the town's supply.

The MVPC analysis shows that Andover's water supply well exceeds the maximum day demand projected for 1990. The town's supply serves 95 percent of Andover's 27,400 population.

Pro Lanes — Exceptional Bowling Facilities

Are you one of the seventy-two million people who bowl ten-pin regularly? If you're not, it's time you tried it!

Pro Lanes, located at 160 Main St., Rte. 28, North Reading, offers ten-pin bowling, exceptional facilities, and very reasonable prices. Brothers George and Paul LeCain, owners of Pro Lanes since 1981, say, "We think Pro Lanes is the best place around. Come and see for yourself."

George LeCain, who bowled professionally for two years, is interested in people who bowl; to him Pro Lanes is not just a business. LeCain is always ready to answer any questions you might have regarding how to improve your bowling skills. Perhaps just watching Paul Moser, Gil Sliker, or Eddie Ressler, professional bowlers who practice at Pro Lanes when they are not on tour, could improve your game. LeCain stresses that ten-pin bowling is a game you can play wherever you travel and throughout your entire lifetime.

Pro Lanes offers company leagues, mixed leagues, and womens and mens leagues. Winter leagues are now forming, and remember, you don't need to have a partner to play. For womens leagues, free babysitting is offered in a carpeted, air-conditioned, spacious nursery.

Planners Reluctantly Approve Subdivision In Watershed Area

By Sue Aucella Deacon

Preliminary plans for a four-lot subdivision off Hemlock Road got the Planning Board's reluctant approval Tuesday night, after the planners failed to persuade the developer to eliminate one proposed lot.

"We do not like Lot 4," planner Andrew Girdwood warned the developer in his motion for approval. "Lot 4 is going to have a rough time in the definitive stage."

Developer William Strout plans to build four lots on a six-acre parcel, located in the Fish Brook watershed area, to be called Maple Tree Terrace. Plans were drawn by Merrimack Engineering, Inc., of Andover.

The planners objected to Lot 4 because most of it is covered by a pond; Marjorie Bradshaw indicated that the developer was using the pond to justify building a house on what is actually "a quarter-acre lot."

Community Development and Planning Director Jonathan Gilmore recommended eliminating Lot 4 and including the pond with Lot 1, where Strout plans to live. "My feeling on Lot 4 is that it is unwise development," he explained.

However, Paul Marchand, representing the developer, said it was "not a case of pushing the land beyond its potential," adding that Lot 4 would be "one of the more desirable lots" in the development.

Near the end of an almost 90-minute discussion of the preliminary plans, Girdwood pointed out that the planners had "no grounds to deny" approval of the plan because it met the requirements of the town's subdivision rules and regulations. But he added, "I don't think Lot 4 is a reasonable lot."

Strout told the planners that without the fourth lot, building a full-scale roadway for the subdivision would be economically impractical. The board suggested that he weigh the economic benefits of building just one house, with a driveway, instead of four houses with a road.

The board had other difficulties with the pond as well, questioning who would maintain it and what the elevation should be.

The pond is crucial to the drainage system for the subdivision, located in an area where flooding is a problem. During a discussion of Maple Tree Terrace two months ago, about 25 abutters appeared to voice their concerns about flooding.

Bradshaw said she was concerned that the owner of Lot 4 might have trouble maintaining the pond properly — and that could lead to drainage problems in the area.

Strout said he was willing to keep the responsibility for maintaining the pond with Lot 1, even though Lot 4 would own the pond. But the planners decided that if the pond is to be part of the fourth lot, the owners of that lot should be responsible for maintaining the pond.

The planners asked Gilmore to seek a legal opinion from town counsel on who would be held responsible for damage to neighbors of the development caused by flooding.

To prevent flooding, the planners asked Strout to lower the elevation of the pond by about two and one-half feet.

The developer at first argued that that would "destroy the pond", which is now about nine feet deep, and create "a mud-hole." He later agreed to lower the elevation.

Plans for Maple Tree Terrace also must go before the Conservation Commission, where further discussion of the pond is likely.

THE HOME-BUYING SINGLE WOMAN

Increasingly important is today's housing market is the single woman. Many are buying homes, either by themselves, or together with other women. This trend reflects the growing number of single women in the population, and the growing number of affluent single women as a result of new occupational opportunities. It also reflects the fact that financial institutions are more willing to lend money for home purchase to single women (as result of legal action and moral persuasion by women's groups). Their motivation to buy is largely financial — a home purchase is best hedge against inflation and also one of the best tax shelters available to single women. The largest market is in condominiums, but single women also buy single family homes, investment properties, and vacation homes.

Many builders are aiming their advertising at women; providing information on tax advantages; and designing and furnishing models to appeal to women. This is an important new development that can greatly broaden the base of the home building industry.

OPEN SUNDAYS

Aide Asks Job-Reinsta

Theresa Sapienza, a laid-off nurse's aide, appeared before the school committee Tuesday night not asking for her job back, but requesting something else — the reinstatement of a junior high guidance counselor.

"Andover has its social problems, just like any other town," she said, but added that in this town, those problems are not often acknowledged. She said a student having problems at home cannot be readily taught in school, and it can be "devastating."

Sapienza noted that parents whose children need help often don't realize it, and so there will be no groups of parents coming before the school board in support of the guidance program.

"We haven't dismissed it (bringing on a guidance counselor)," said Schools Superintendent Kenneth Seifert, "nor have we put it higher on a priority list."

He explained, however, that the school department will wait until the end of August to see how many teachers have resigned or retired since the last school year. This could possibly open up some positions.

Returns From Tour In Norway

Marine Cpl. Bruce V. Emerick, son of Eva Emerick, 53 Waverly Road, North Andover, recently returned from a deployment to Norway.

He is a member of the 2nd Tank Battalion, 36th Marine amphibious Unit, Camp Lejeune, N.C.

During the deployment his unit participated in exercise "Alloy Express 82" in northern Norway. The exercise involved more than 2,000 Marines participating in the week-long cold weather training, some 200 miles north of the Arctic Circle.

Sunlight Damaging

A recent scientific finding is again implicating sunlight as a cancer causing agent. In an article published in the July 8 issue of Nature, researchers at the Sidney Farber Cancer Institute in Boston described a previously undiscovered type of sunlight induced damage to human cells which chemically alters the genetic material (DNA) of skin cells and may lead to cancer.

The article, entitled "Ultraviolet Light Induced Mutation Hotspots Occur at DNA Damage Hotspots," is authored by William A. Haseltine, Ph.D., chief of the institute's laboratory of biochemical pharmacology, and Douglas E. Brash, Ph.D., research fellow in microbiology.
